

The Religious Revolution Trilogy

By Byung Yoon Kim, Chairman of the New Consilience Group (NCG)

The answer to the religious questions lies in the natural law. Find the truth through the consilience of social science and natural science.

A landmark synthesis returning to the core teachings of great founders of the world religions, Buddha, Jesus and Si-hyung Choi of Donghak.

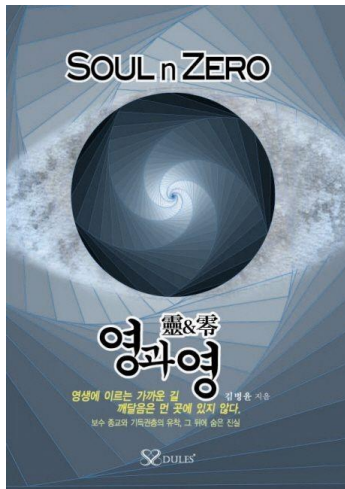

We should bequeath the better future to our future generations through the Religious Revolution beyond the Reformation

Target Readership:

Interfaith scholars, philosophers of religion, and general readers seeking spiritual independence through critical thinking.

Academic readers in philosophy and theology, scientists exploring the boundary between consciousness and physics, and general readers interested in life-after-death questions.

『SOUL & ZERO』 — The First Vision of Consilience

In “Soul & Zero,” BY challenges the fabricated doctrines of modern organized religions, restoring the founders’ spirit of truth and unity. Based on thirty years of comparative study across Christian, Buddhist, Hindu, Islamic, and Zoroastrian traditions, the work exposes the deep contradictions embedded in sacred texts and offers a path toward ethical, historically grounded faith.

The book questions inherited concepts of tithes, heaven, and hell, revealing how they have been distorted by institutional powers. Instead, it proclaims: all beings are one, and heaven exists within the living moment. Each chapter moves from the metaphysical nature of being to the redefinition of right faith and right life, urging the reader to reconstruct right belief as practice, not submission.

Key Themes:

- Oneness of all beings – dissolving the boundaries between ego and others.
- The falsity of conventional afterlife doctrines – heaven is here, not beyond.
- The necessity of a “Religious Revolution” grounded in compassion and truth.
- Reclaiming the moral force of religion as a unifying human ethic.

Selected Quote:

“All beings are one; heaven is not beyond death but within the living world.”

『CONVERSATION WITH ONENESS GOD』 — A Dialogue of Science and Faith

This book presents a bold and original dialogue among four symbolic figures — DulesKim, Rabamoses, EinsHawky, and PaulYoodang — representing reason, faith, science, and morality.

Through their dialogue, it unites theology and philosophy under the spirit of consilience.

It reinterprets the Bible, revisits ethical paradoxes in Christianity, and bridges science and spirituality to form a rational, compassionate foundation for faith.

It challenges the misinterpretation of Jesus' message, exposing how church institutions distorted the notion of divine unity into dogma. BY proposes that heaven is not a distant reward but a living consciousness achieved through ethical life on earth.

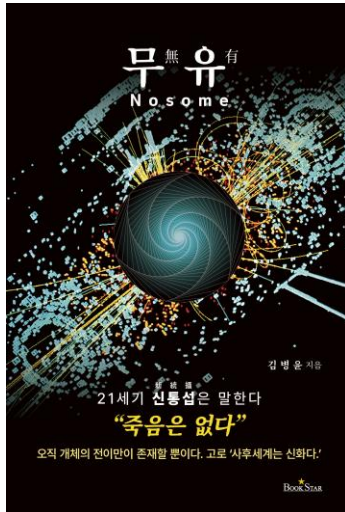

Key Themes:

- Integration of theology, ethics, and science as one continuous inquiry.
- Liberation from dualistic doctrines of sin and salvation.
- Awakening to Oneness as the realization of love and responsibility.
- The practice of building an earthly heaven through truth and reason.

Selected Quote:

"We must not wait for heaven after death. Heaven begins with awakening to truth on earth."

『NOSOME』 — The Final Doctrine of Transmigration and Love

“There is no death — only the transmigration of entities.” With this radical statement, it dismantles the myth of the afterlife and reconstructs a worldview that unites scientific understanding and spiritual wisdom.

Through cosmology, biology, and metaphysics, BY explains that death is not an end but a transformation of energy and consciousness — a transition within a single, continuous existence.

This book critiques the limitations of the Reformation, asserting that modern faith requires a genuine Religious Revolution. It urges humanity to move beyond denominational barriers and embrace a new philosophy grounded in truth, reason, and love.

Drawing from quantum theory, moral philosophy, and comparative theology, “Nosome” offers a systematic model of being and transmigration, culminating in an appeal for compassion and collective awakening.

Key Themes:

- The scientific reinterpretation of death and afterlife as “transmigration.”
- The unity of matter and spirit — physics and metaphysics as one continuum.
- From Reformation to Revolution: rebuilding faith beyond dogma.
- Oneness of all beings and love as the centrifugal force of the cosmos.

Selected Quote:

“There is no death. Only the transmigration of entities toward oneness and love.”
